SECURITY BOSS—McGeorge Bundy, Harvard dean who has close ties to Grand Rapids, Saturday was named special assistant for national security by President-elect Kennedy.

Has Local Ties

McGeorge Bundy's Family Long Prominent Here

McGeorge Bundy, a Republican who Saturday was appointed special assistant for national security affairs by President-elect John F. Kennedy, is a scion of former Grand Rapids families widely known for their educational and governmental achievements.

Were Tennis Champions

In still another field Bundy's father, Harvey Hollister Bundy, and uncle, Nathan Bundy, both of Grand Rapids, were tennis champions in west Michigan and state tournaments about 40 years ago.

At 41, Bundy is dean of the faculty of arts and science at Harvard, a post he has held since 1953. He has authored numerous articles on political affairs and is known as a member of the liberal wing of the GOP.

As special assistant in national security affairs, the Boston-born educator will preside over the planning staff of the national security council.

Pass Titles Back, Forth

McGeorge Bundy's father, Harvey with his brother, Nathan, several times won the state doubles tennis championship and individually they gathered in state singles and western Michigan titles on several occasions. Residents here recall how the pair passed tennis titles back and forth in the early 1900s. In 1910, for instance Harvey won the western Michigan title while Nathan annexed his third state championship.

Harvey and Nathan are sons of the late McGeorge Bundy, prominent Grand Rapids attorney, and nephews of the late Clay H. Hollister, Grand Rapids banker. The family home was on Fountain st. at Portsmouth pk.

Set Service Pattern

Harvey Bundy set the pattern of government service for his sons as an assistant to the late Henry L. Stimson when Stimson was secretary of state and secretary of war. Harvey also had been secretary to Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes and was assistant counsel to the United States food administration.

McGeorge Bundy's brother, William P., was deputy director of the central intelligence agency in the mid-1950s.

McGeorge is married to the former Mary Buckminster Lothrop and they have three sons. The Bundys live at Cambridge, Mass.
